CBM works in the world's poorest places to prevent blindness, improve health and transform the lives of people with disabilities.

Mark Beaumont will share the story of his 10,000 Km world record ride from Cairo to Cape Town. The route took him through some of the most under-resourced countries of the world where CBM is working to reduce the burden of needless blindness.

Right now under Mark's mentorship Alex and Merlin, two students from the University of St Andrews are also cycling from Cairo to Cape Town but this time on a tandem bike. They aim to raise awareness of preventable blindness by visiting dozens of medical schools and hospitals along their route empowering health care workers with the solar powered Arclight ophthalmoscope in the fight against needless disability.

The aim of the evening is to raise funds for both CBM and the Arclight Tandem Africa Project.

Sign interpretation will be available.
